

REGIONAL DELIVERY GRANTS

Regional Delivery Grants support new and emerging regional meetings to broaden the reach of OTS and build vibrant oligo communities around the world.

CALL FOR APPLICATIONS

The inaugural Regional Delivery Grant was awarded to the First Nucleic Acid Therapeutics Regional Meeting India, held February 2025. The meeting was a great success with over 350 attendees; OTS plans to build on that success by expanding to other regions in 2026/2027.

A maximum of $50,000 USD will be allotted for a Regional Delivery Grant.

Deadline to apply: October 15, 2025

Specific regions of interest: Australia/NZ, Middle East, South Korea, South America

Requirements

- Primary applicant must be a current member of OTS
- Willing and able to organize a multi-day regional meeting (minimum 100 attendees) that provides professional development opportunities for scientists in oligonucleotide research and includes students and junior researchers
- Must include participants from different laboratories, institutions, and companies
- Must be outside of the US, Canada, and Europe

Applicants should have the following in place to make the strongest case for funding:

- Willing and able organizing co-chairs
- Suitable venue with potential dates
- Detailed budget estimate outlining how OTS funds will be used
- Additional sources of funding and/or a plan to secure additional funding

Organizers must have their own infrastructure to support the planning and management. OTS can provide support and mentoring to include outreach, speaker recruitment, and fundraising assistance.
